

Pledge to Protect Human Creativity in Music

As a committed member of the music community, I pledge to uphold the integrity of artistic expression by refraining from the use of artificial intelligence (AI) in my music creation process.

This pledge is made in recognition of the following principles:

Commitment to Human Artistry

- I believe that music is a deeply human endeavor that reflects emotions, experiences, and creativity unique to each artist.
- I will prioritize the use of traditional methods and human collaboration in my music-making process.

Respect for Artists' Rights

- I acknowledge the importance of protecting the rights of all artists and creators.
- I will not support or engage in practices that undermine the value of human artistry or devalue the contributions of fellow musicians.

Advocacy for Responsible AI Use

- While I recognize the potential benefits of AI in various fields, I will advocate for its responsible use that does not infringe upon the rights of artists.
- I will support initiatives and legislation that promote transparency and accountability in the use of AI technologies in the music industry.

Support for Fair Compensation

- I commit to ensuring that all artists receive fair compensation for their work and contributions.

- I will actively participate in discussions and actions that seek to protect the financial interests of musicians in the face of evolving technology.

By signing this pledge, I affirm my dedication to preserving the essence of music as a human art form and to fostering an environment where creativity can thrive without the threat of AI encroachment.
